Dear Supporter of New England's Arts & Flute Community:

These are challenging times for businesses and organizations, especially those like ours that have a fundamental commitment to the flute and to the proliferation of quality music in general. After-school activities and music and arts classes have been cut back or eliminated altogether in response to government budget slashing. Membership dues have been kept as low as possible do not come close to covering GBFA's annual operating expenses (a Student Membership does not even cover the cost of getting The Gazette magazine to that member each year!). Here's a way to help re-infuse our community with activities that keep the arts alive.

Greater Boston Flute Association, a non-profit organization devoted to flute players and all who have a passion for the flute, is seeking support for expenses associated with ongoing projects which benefit artists and flute players in our community and contribute to the vitality of the arts in New England in general. GBFA would appreciate any amount you can donate. By becoming a donor, you will join others who proudly donate to this worthy cause.

Donations received will be acknowledged (unless an "anonymous" attribution is requested) in our magazine The Gazette and/or online at gbfa.org. You will receive a letter acknowledging your tax-deductible donation for your records.

YES! I want to assist Greater Boston Flute Association with its continuing efforts to support our flute community and the arts in New England.

Enclosed is my check # _____ dated _____ made payable to GBFA in the amount of $ _____
